Session content:

- Here are 3 CORE skills every 21st Century Manager needs to master to become an effective Manager Leader -
  - Decision making
  - RISK Management
  - Problem Solving

1. Decision-making

It's the nature of business that problems will arise. The measure of a good manager is how they solve those problems. Managers need to be able to make the tough decisions – and quickly.

A lack of decisiveness leads to missed opportunities. And it's just as important to make sure that once made, those decisions are then implemented, and achieve the desired results. If not, leaders mustn't be afraid to change course. Leadership is a series of decisions, made with competence and confidence.

2. Risk-management

Risk management is the process of identifying, assessing and controlling threats to an organization's capital and earnings. These risks stem from a variety of sources including financial uncertainties, legal liabilities, technology issues, strategic management errors, accidents and natural disasters.

A successful risk management program helps an organization consider the full range of risks it faces. Risk management also examines the relationship between risks and the cascading impact they could have on an organization's strategic goals.

3. Problem-solving

Problem solving is the act of defining a problem; determining the cause of the problem; identifying, prioritizing, and selecting alternatives for a solution; and implementing a solution.
